

COLBY WOODSON'S STORY

Colby was eight years old and about to start a new school when he badly chipped his two permanent front teeth at a Saturday pool party. Responding to the emergency outside of regular office hours, Dr. Adams immediately met the family at the office. By the time he arrived one of the injured teeth had already fallen out. Dr. Adams performed a difficult re-implantation procedure that saved the tooth, then repaired the chipped teeth with bonding in time for Colby to start school with a handsome smile.

“Heather is not just a nice person but a great dentist. Her attention to detail allowed my son, Colby, to start a new school without being self-conscious. More important than that, she saved his permanent tooth.”

– Katharine Woodson, Colby’s mom